Funds for a West Falls Bridge.

The citizens of West Falls have subscribed sixty dollars toward building a bridge over Cow bayon, on the Waco road. Mr. Hedge Thompson yesterday circulated among our business men, who are much interested in the trade of that rich section of country, a paper ask-ing them to aid in building the bridge, and received thereon about one hundred dollars. He will to-day ask those he failed to see yesterday for ninety dollars more, the amount lacking to complete the structure, and we doubt not he will

POLITICAL POT BOILING.

Future Governor and Senate Coke at Minglewood Park.

Waco and surrounding country njoyed a treat yesterday in the firs political gathering of the season, and cousing addresses by the Hon. Judge Roberts and our esteemed Senator at the beautiful and newly opened park. At 10:30 o'clock the Commit tee of Reception waited upon Judge Roberts and Senator Coke at the residence of the latter, and conveyed them in a carriage to the McClelland Hotel, where a procession was formed, headed by the Oriental Cornet Band and accompanied by the large number of our citizens and man visitors from the country, conveyed the honorable orators of the day to the park. A very considerable audience had already assembled, and the day was spent in listening to Judge Roberts, and after dinner to Senator Coke.

The gist of the speeches is all that our limited space will allow, us to give but the audience was well pleased and manifested the livellest satisfaction at the very able manner in which the living issues of the hour were treated by the two very distinguished speakers.

Judge Roberts was introduced by our genial and affable Mayor, who exerted himself during the day, to good effects in doing the hospital-

Much interest was felt in the preence of Judge Roberts, and the gentlemen who came quietly to the front, received a warm welcome from the audience. His speech, t plain, unostentations discussion of political issues from manly and prac tical points of view, was listened to with great attention, and left very favorable impressions on the au dience. A considerable portion of the first part of the speech was taken up with a review of the evils of the E J. Davis' administration and a vindication of the administration of Govs. Coke and Hubbard, in answer to certain alleged charges of extravagance against them, by enemies of the party. The honorable gentlemen showed very clearly by figures and explicit statistics, the burdens which had been left on the administrators of the latter by radical rule and fur nished figures to show that although saddled by the Davis regime with $4,000,000 of debt and accumula-tion of interest on that debt, the administration of Coke and Hubbard had not only carried that debt and the interest thereon and the accumulated interest, but had also in addi tion thereto had carried on the government of the State with the expense of the organization of many new counties, and the expenditur of large specific sums for frentier defense, and had yet administered the resources with such skill and economy that an addition of very little over a million dollars had been added to the bonded debt of the State left by Davis. The speaker would, he said, if, in case of his election, of which he entertained no doubt, recommend to the Legislature that a million dollars of the ten per cent. bearing bonds be called in and funded at five per cent.

His vindication of Democratic economy was full and complete. He then proceeded to review the history of the Democratic party in a nation al point of view to show that there had always been and would always be two, and but two, great parties in the United States, and that those two were distinguished by vital and radically different principles. The one was an advocate of a central government and was imbued with the aristocratic and royal despotisn while the other was a peoples' party, believing in the people legislating for the people and identified with them in interest and spirit. The speaker had been told by an old soldier that it was reported of of him that he was in favor of a property qualification. GOV. CORR'S SPRECH. The appearance of Senator Coke o the rostrum was the signal for such manifestations of earnest interest as we have never seen surpassed. Mer crowded close to the stand and awaited the opening of his speech with intense attention. That Senator Coke is a Statesman in every sense of the word, and one destined to increase an already acquired national reputation no one who hears him can doubt. His views are broad and comprehensive. He sweeps away all the petty questions which gather about his subject, and reasons from those general princi-ples on which great and permanent policies alone can be built. For statesmanship his speech yesterday surpassed by far that of Schator Thurman, which struck the key-note of the present campaign.

The Senator began his speech tremulous with earnestness as one who appreciates the momentous interests involved in the present struggle. His peroration was a history of the Democratic party, and such a history as a man need only hear once in a lifetime. The eyes of old Democrats glowed with youthful fire as they heard the grand old party's struggles and fidelity vindicated in words that sounded like a trumpet charge, and with a logic and pathos that reached in many passage a flery

"If Grant," he said, who was now raining in England, should return to crush the libertles of this country the Greenbackers of Texas, would applaud it, and the identity of Democrats with that party made them accessories to the crime which contemplated the destruction of liberty under Grant. Whatever injury or ruin might result to the country from any success of the Greenback party those Democrats could not be exonerated, if they had not willed it, or participated voluntarily therein, they must at least bear the stain of associating with those who had.

This review by the Honorable Senator of the too parties, their history, aims, purposes and results was a masterly effort, full of cogent reasons and lucid deduction and could not fall to strike recusant Democrats with irresistible force.

GOSHEN SCHOOL HOUSE, ) McLENNAN COUNTY, TEX. October 3, 1878.

I wish to ask some questions which the Examinen will please answer: 1. Does the law authorize the county court to make appropriations of county money for working roads? 2. Are there any office hours for county judge? 3. How much tax is levied for the year 1879 to defray expenses of the county?

4. Please state as to the salaries of the different county officers.
5. How much public funds are on hand?

business generally, through the columns of the Waco WERKLY EX AMINER which contends for the in-terests of the laboring classes, and which all farmers should patronize and endorse.

JOHN W. GRAHAM, Coke, McLennan county, Texas We answer serially in the order in which the questions are asked:

1. The law does not allow county court to make appropriation of any kind. It authorizes the commissioners' court, which is presided over by the county Judge, to make such appropriations from the treasurer for public improvements, a shall be deemed necessary.

2- The county Judge has no office hours, except when his court is in session. He lives in town, and when not in his office is generally easy to find.

3. The tax levy for 1879, to defray county expenses, has not been made. It will be made in the coming com missioners' court. We are assured that it will not exceed theenty cents on the one hundred dollars worth of property.

4. The salaries, tees and perquisites of all county officers, are expressly and minutely fixed by law As the list would occupy several columns we cannot publish it here Each officer is required to keep post ed up in a conspicuous place in his office a complete list of the fees the ceiving other or higher fees than are prescribed by law,renders the officer so offending, liable to the party aggrieved for four-fold the fees so un lawfully demanded and received Clerks of courts, county judges, sheriffs, justices of the peace and con stables are required to keep a fee book and to enter therein all fees charged for services rendered, which fee book is subject at all times to the inspection of any person wishing to see the charges therein made.

5. The amount of public rands now on hand is ten thousand dollars. On the first of March, after the pres will be in the treasury about twenty thousand dollars.
